With experience in both the animation industry and stage arts as a visual artist, I've gained valuable insights into creative production. My education in Animation was further enriched through participation in an Erasmus program in New Media Arts in Germany, broadening my artistic perspective.

My passion for performance arts led me to pursue further education in physical theater, where I honed my communication and storytelling skills. I contributed to the Berlin-based humanitarian clown team C4A, creating and performing original shows for refugee camps.

During my volunteer year with the Cabuwazi Social Circus in Berlin, I gained hands-on experience in art pedagogy, exploring how animation and art can foster creativity and connection.
